

EMERGENCY SERVICES

LEVITT-SAFETY PROVIDES A NUMBER OF SAFETY PRODUCTS, SERVICES AND TRAINING, all designed to meet the unique needs of emergency service workers.

Canada's emergency service workers are vital to our country's disaster response. They include jobs like firefighters, first responders, emergency medical technicians, paramedics and more.

Due to the sudden, intense and unpredictable nature of their work, emergency service workers face a number of potential job hazards like lifting patients and heavy equipment, treating infectious illnesses and coming into contact with bodily fluids, heat and cold stress, handling hazardous gases and chemicals and participating in transporting patients in ground and air vehicles.
